FLYING ENGLISH CHANNEL

Hubert Latham Started to Cross Today and His Machine Dropped When About Eight Miles From French Coast.

Calais, France, July 19.—In an attempt to fly across the English Channel today, Hubert Latham nearly lost his life as his monoplane dropped into the water and the operator was found just in time. Latham started out at 6.40 o'clock this morning to perform what has come to be the ambition of aeronauts. Conditions for the trial were considered perfect, and the monoplane soon disappeared out of the sight of the big crowd which had gathered to witness the start.

Later a French torpedo boat returned with the aeronaut and his machine. Latham had been picked up by the crew of the torpedo boat about eight miles from the coast. It was just by good fortune that the Frenchmen saw the monoplane floating on the water. They investigated and found Latham clinging to the frame-work. He was hauled aboard the vessel and brought back to the coast.

Nothing daunted by his failure and his narrow escape from death, the aeronaut announced that he would make another attempt to fly the Channel later on. It is thought that the cause of the accident today was due to the failure of the motor to work.

LOST HIS NERVE
IN AN AEROPLANEThe Machine Came Down and Battered Itself Against Ground, While the
Would-Be Operator Was Taken to Hospital.

New York, July 19.—A frightened amateur, sitting like a wooden man, went up at dawn yesterday in Glenn H. Curtiss' aeroplane, hovered a moment in midair, then crashed to earth. The beautiful craft in which Curtiss made his remarkable flight Saturday was badly wrecked and the would-be aviator was lifted unconscious from the twisted frame. His left arm broken, his left thumb dislocated, his body bruised and his brain reeling. His injuries, however, are not serious and he is in the Nassau hospital at Mineola, L. I., while the battered aeroplane rests in its tent awaiting repairs.

Williams sat apparently motionless and made no effort to manipulate the rudder to keep the craft from rising. Consequently it began shooting upward turning at the same time toward the right like a ship unsteered. When it had attained a height of about 30 feet the dip to the right became dangerous and the aeroplane reeling began its fall. The descent was not rapid but the impact was sufficient to shatter a number of ribs, break both left and right wing tips and the front control. When it rolled over the engine continued to work and the propeller was shattered as it struck the ground. A week's work at least will be required to patch up the flyer and it will probably be necessary to send to Hammondsport, N. Y., where Curtiss has his shop, for duplicate parts.

The aeroplane society paid $5,000 for the aeroplane and Curtiss agreed to instruct the members in its use.

REFUGEE SHAH IS HAUGHTY.

Will Not Allow Deputation Tell Him
He is Deposed.

Teheran, Persia, July 19.—Mohammed Ali, the deposed Shah, who is now in the Russian summer legation, has declined to receive a deputation to inform him of his deposition.

Sipahdar and Sardars, the leaders in the nationalist movement, last night sent the following telegram to the British and Russian legations:

"In accordance with the decision of the National council, which met Saturday at Baku, it will be necessary for a deputation from the council to wait upon his Majesty, Mohammed Ali, to notify him of the change of sovereignty.

"As his Majesty is at present a refugee in the Russian legation, under British and Russian protection, we request your Excellencies to fix a time tomorrow when his Majesty may receive the deputation.

The shah replied this morning through the legation, saying in his message:

"His Majesty states that having taken refuge in the Russian legation, he does not wish to receive a deputation which comes for the purpose of informing him of this fact."

Mohammed Ali probably will depart shortly for Russia. It is believed that the Queen is desirous of accompanying the former Shah, taking with her the crown prince, who is the newly proclaimed Shah.

PERJURY IS CHARGED.

Rochester Police Arrested a Man Last Night.

Rochester, N. Y., July 19.—On a charge of perjury and because he is, as the police say, suspected of issuing a check for $1,750 with the intention of defrauding the Lincoln National bank, of Rochester, Giovanni Ponticelli, a dealer in olive oil, wines and groceries, 36 years old, was placed under arrest here last night. When Ponticelli was found not to have enough money on deposit to meet drafts upon him, he was called to the bank, and when he saw a check made payable to "M. Costello" and signed with his name he declared that the signature was not his, that the check was a forgery. The police and bank officials say that they believe Ponticelli gave the check to a friend to cash with the intention of defrauding the bank.

The day this check was cashed payment was made by the same bank on another for $850, signed with "Thomas W. Finck" who is a prominent contractor and interested in the independent telephone business. Mr. Finck says the check is a forgery.

The police hold opinion that a number of persons are engaged in issuing forged checks in the city, and an investigation is under way.

LUNATIC MURDERED
FORMER EMPLOYERLawrence N. Julian Gave Himself Up
Yesterday After Shooting Desire
A Vanderpool at Abington,
Mass.

Abington, Mass., July 19.—Returning to the farm on which he had at one time worked Lawrence Nelson Julian, an escaped lunatic, met his former employer, Desire A. Vanderpool, a wealthy farmer of West Abington, watering flowers in the dooryard, and fired four shots at him, three of which took effect in vital spots, causing almost instant death. One of the bullets entered Vanderpool's head, another the neck and the third found lodgment in the abdomen. Julian then walked off with the smoking revolver in his hand and after telling several people that he had shot a man, ascended two young men who were riding in a carriage and asked to be driven to the Brockton police station, saying that he had shot a man and wished to give himself up. The boys, thoroughly frightened, complied, and Julian was locked up in Brockton.

When asked by the Brockton police why he committed the crime Julian according to the police, said:

"I won't stand for any man throwing and over me while I am working."

Julian worked as a farmhand at the Vanderpool farm for three days last March, leaving because he said he had a better job.

KILLED BY AUTO.

E. William Chappel of Oneida, N. Y.
Ran Machine Into a Tree.

Utica, N. Y., July 19.—E. William Chappel of Oneida, president of the National Casket Company, the main factory of which is in that city, was killed in an automobile accident near Chittenango. He had recently purchased a large touring car. He started from Oneida at 6 o'clock last evening for a run to Syracuse, accompanied by his wife, two other women and a child.

While they were speeding along the highway a few miles east of Chittenango a team of horses suddenly came into view around a bend in the road. Chappel was unable to slacken speed and when he realized a collision was unavoidable unless he swerved into the ditch, he chose the latter alternative and the car plunged into a tree.

Chappel was caught between the auto, mobile and the tree and instantly killed. The women in the machine, besides Mrs. Chappel, were two sisters Mrs. William Cochran of Oneida Castle and Miss Florence Wells of Oneida. All are badly injured, but it is believed they will survive. A 7-year-old son of Mrs. Cochran was not injured.

Fall of Historic Tree.

Vancouver's historic old Balm of Gilead tree, to which Lewis and Clark are said to have tied their canoe in 1805 and which marked the landing point of the Hudson Bay Company of fur traders in 1825, fell a victim to the waters of the Columbia River this afternoon.

This old tree, which stood on the bank of the river at the foot of Main street, was the starting point for all early surveys in Clark county and the western portion of Washington State. It marked the point where the city limits joined the military reservation. The tree was held in veneration by Vancouver people and people all over the Pacific Northwest who took an interest in matters of historic interest.

The tree was about 5 feet in diameter at its base and was 75 feet high, being fully 90 feet across at its crown. A copper railroad spike is said to have been driven into the tree, and it was from this point all surveys began. This spike is now grown over, but it is likely that it will be chopped out and kept in the archives of the city—Portland Oregonian.

Lightning struck the barn of Myles Hemmaway about three miles below Windsor village Thursday and it was destroyed; loss $2,000. Forty tons of hay were burned.

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF

Hardwick Youth Who Was Stopped
Near Wells River Yesterday
Didn't Stay in Jail
Very Long.

Hardwick, July 19.—The theft of a horse, the capture of the alleged thief and the escape of the suspect from jail at Melndoes constituted a thrilling tale which started in this town Saturday morning when Mr. Boach who resides on a farm outside the village found that his horse and a new buggy had disappeared during Friday night, the two being valued at $200. Mr. Boach reported the loss to Deputy Sheriff Rand of this place, and the latter in turn notified Sheriff Winch.

The latter started out on a trail and since suspicion fell on Leon Green, a young man of this town, his movements were looked up. It being thought that Green might go to Newbury to visit a brother Sheriff Winch started on the road and when eight miles below Wells River yesterday he caught young Green driving the team. Sheriff Winch placed the young man under arrest and carried him to Melndoes and placed him in the jail.

At half past five yesterday afternoon it was discovered that the bird had flown, by saving off the bars to his cell and dropping a height of thirty feet to the ground. Nothing has been seen of him since. Sheriff Winch thinks that Green must have been assisted by someone outside of the jail. Mr. Boach is of the opinion that there were two men concerned in the robbery as the tracks of two men were found about his barn.

Green is 21 years of age and has not borne any two good a reputation in Hardwick, it is said. His parents live here.

The Melndoes jail from which the suspect escaped has been recently repaired so that it was thought prisoners would have a difficult time regaining their freedom.

PAVING VS. MACADAM.

W. D. Kidder Favors Former to Granite
Street Macadam North of That.

Mr. Editor:—In view of the strained relations existing between several of our aldermen and townsmen as regards paving versus macadam for our principal street, allow me a little space. I will say at the outset I am an advocate of both paving and macadam in their proper places. I do believe that Main street should be paved as far north as Granite street, no further; and from Granite street to Blackwell macadamized. There is such a large volume of traffic on Granite street that it would seem imperative to continue the paving to this point.

But from Granite street to Blackwell street, it is largely residential and probably will remain so for several years to come. The most objectionable feature of this section of the road being paved, laying aside the noise, is the fact that many sewer connections will have to be made in the future for houses as well as business blocks and small stores. We all know it practically impossible to tear up paving and replace in a satisfactory manner. As to the upkeep or repair of both classes of road, the paved street is more expensive than would appear at first thought, necessitating as it will later on re-laying between the curbsides of stone of tar or other composition and finally a tearing-up and inverting of the blocks so as to get a flat surface for travel as is now being done in section of Canal street in New York City. The repair of a macadamized street, while not as expensive each time it is repaired, requires to be looked after more often. But for a city the size of Barre (laying aside the cost) the northern section of Main street beyond Granite street should not be paved.

Yours,

W. D. Kidder.

SMART SCUFFLE IN DARK

Committee of Arrangements for That Event Are Now Going Ahead
With Plans for That Date.

Albin Cleveland pleaded guilty to the charge of breach of the peace in city court this morning and was fined $5, with costs of $5.94, which he paid later in the day. Cleveland was arrested last night on River street by Officer Carl who happened along while the former was engaged in a heated altercation with Bernice Lane. The officer says that Cleveland forthwith began to call him names and tell what he would do if the officer attempted to arrest him.

The officer at once gave him a chance to make good his threats and in the scuffle which followed both men went off the side of the street and down a steep embankment into the edge of the river. They rolled over and over and when they struck the water the officer was on top, while Cleveland laid on his back in several inches of water. The water had a cooling effect on Cleveland and he then agreed to go along with the officer peacefully. The scrap took place in a dark spot in the street and the officer said that in the tussle he did not notice the bank.

Joseph Bennett who was arrested and convicted of breach of the peace on June 12, 1908, and was given a sentence of not less than 6 months or more than 18 in the house of correction at Rutland and was then placed in the hands of a probation officer, was arrested Saturday on a mittimus by Chief Faulkner and taken to Rutland this morning to serve out the sentence. On October 2, last, through testimony brought out before the grand jury in county court, it was learned that Bennett had been violating the terms of his probation and the state's attorney ordered a mittimus issued for Bennett's arrest. Since then the officers have been on the lookout for Bennett and last week the officers learned that he was in the city. Bennett was given a heavy sentence by Judge Scott when his case was heard last year for the reason that he resisted the officers when he was arrested.
